For some people, a ski trip is a major undertaking: travel arrangements, reservations, time off from work. But when you live and work in Denver, you can hit the powder at a moment's notice.

Colorado offers almost limitless recreational choices . . . mountain climbing, four-wheeling, exploring abandoned mining towns, boating, sailing and water skiing, and of course snow skiing. You can also enjoy major league sports, and take advantage of a wide variety of educational and cultural resources in the Mile-High City. Recreational activities, sports, cultural and educational opportunities plus over 300 sunny days every year, all add up to a hard-to-beat combination.

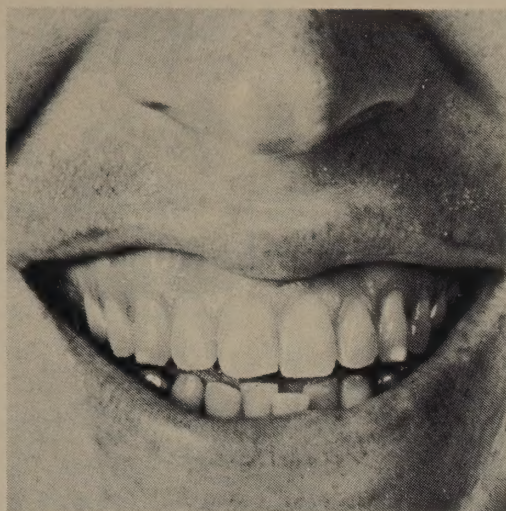

Hundreds of nurses, technologists, therapists and other health care specialists from all parts of the country have come to Porter Memorial Hospital, to advance their professional careers. Situated in a quiet residential neighborhood in south Denver, Porter is a 352-bed hospital providing general acute-care services, with specialties in cardiovascular surgery, pediatrics, ophthalmology, psychiatry, orthopedics and oncology.

IS THERE WORK AFTER SCHOOL?

Now, we're not talking about those tentative part-time jobs you've had in fast-food chains, cleaning carpets, or sorting mail. We mean full-salaried employment in an exciting environment reaching people who need help and a gentle touch by someone who cares. The School of Allied Health Professions at Loma Linda University provides opportunities to consider various health-related professions which utilize high technology and allow a ministry akin to Jesus'.

Don't wonder any longer about having to scrub pots and pans forever, or about being phased out by computers, or even about learning a skill soon to be obsolete. Jobs in Allied Health have real meaning. Remember, Allied Health at Loma Linda University when you start to think of work after school.

“And I thought once I conquered Gray’s Anatomy my worries would be over”

Not quite. . .

Do I really have the skills to tackle my first professional nursing job? What specialty nursing field should I choose? That first day on the job. Can I measure up when a life, rather than a grade, is at stake?

Hinsdale Hospital fights such fears through a nurse intern program developed to ease you from the world of textbooks into the role of professional nurse.

The ten-week nurse intern program: acquaints you with nursing procedures at the hospital; provides personalized assistance from experienced nurses on your unit; explores your leadership style; promotes use of the nursing process in giving total patient care.

Recent graduates say:

“The internship was a security to me, I wasn’t expected to know everything right at first.”

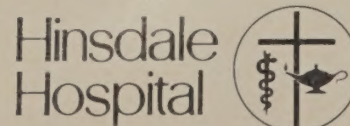

“I feel it’s almost a must for a new nursing graduate.”

“The nurse internship was like a shock absorber.”

Reduce your worries. Increase your chances for success.

Call collect (312) 887-2681, today.

Then head back to the books so you’ll be ready after graduation for the nurse intern program.

At Shawnee Mission Medical Center

New ideas are always developing.

For years, Shawnee Mission Medical Center has been recognized as a progressive developer of ideas.

For instance, our Pre-Admission Testing program allows a patient to complete routine tests as an out-patient several days before scheduled surgery. The patients can then be admitted on the day of surgery, saving them both time and expense.

Within the past year, we've begun offering medical and dental services in three area shopping malls.

And waiting to see the doctor or dentist was never such fun. Handy pagers allow patients to shop until they hear a "beep," meaning the doctor will see them in 10 minutes. Our concept of paging patients is so innovative it has been reported in several national newspapers, radio-TV networks, and the Readers Digest.

Facilities within our 383-bed hospital are just as progressive.

Portable Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf (TDD's) make it possible for deaf patients to place and receive telephone calls from the convenience of their own hospital room.

And SMMC recently purchased new x-ray cassettes which reduce radiation dosage to patients by 50 to 75 percent without sacrificing image quality.

The ideas don't stop here. We are constantly adding new programs and facilities to better serve our progressive community.

At Shawnee Mission Medical Center, we're as interested as ever to see the whole picture develop. For career information call collect (913) 676-2020.
